About this report

This report provides preliminary results from our recent study. More complete results, including charts, market performance breakdown and other analysis, are made available exclusively to i4cp corporate members.

In this survey, multiple questions used the well-accepted 1-5 Likert-type scale, with a 1 rating generally designated as “not at all” and a 5 rating as “a very high extent.” Mean scores are the average of those ratings.

7. What business results are your organization able to connect to D&I efforts?
What does the D&I effort look like and consist of?

- We have specific D & I Leadership Objectives and consolidate the results for review and discussion with our Diversity Leadership Team
- Our business resource groups (BRGs) track various metrics while conducting events (e.g. accounts opened, $ in new business, # of new networks, resumes obtained, participation at events, donations made, media coverage, etc.). This helps validate the ROI for the investment made in the BRGs.
- Better understanding of customer feedback and customizing approach to products, services and sales.
Recruiting Diverse Talent, Mentoring and Coaching, Providing Career Development Opportunities.
- We have been able to connect some of our tailored marketing/community outreach efforts in diverse communities to market share and its supplier spend with minority and women-owned business with market share and financial results.
- Our corporate diversity objectives are business impact focused and align with the company's long-term goals. With the implementation of the 2014-2016 Corporate Diversity Strategic Plan we are looking at the connection between our D&I efforts to business outcomes such as recruiting costs, employee alignment and empowerment, employee engagement, health care disparities, health care costs, customer satisfaction, brand loyalty and awareness.
